

Ingram Micro Partnership

Connecting the Technology Value Chain: FourChain and Ingram Micro

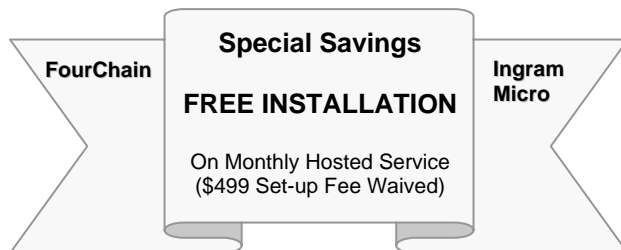

Ingram Micro, the world's leading wholesale provider of technology products and supply-chain management services, has selected FourChain for its Certified Electronic Commerce Partner Program. As a Certified Partner, FourChain enjoys a direct business relationship with Ingram Micro aimed at delivering a host of benefits to Ingram Micro's solution providers.

A primary focus of this partnership is to bring about a higher level of supply-chain integration between FourChain and Ingram Micro's order fulfillment systems. In doing so, FourChain will continue to cater to the specific needs of information technology solution providers, while providing a robust e-business platform that has the support of Ingram Micro.

Solution Provider Benefits

As an Ingram Micro solution provider, your company can benefit from this partnership in a number of ways:

- Integrated e-Business Platform – FourChain has a direct business relationship and dedicated support within Ingram Micro to help keep it state-of-the-art with regards to the latest information, features, technology and business processes important to Ingram Micro solution providers.
- New Capabilities – You'll benefit from FourChain's early involvement with changes and enhancements to Ingram Micro's systems and will have the confidence of knowing it is an Ingram Micro supported solution.
- Save Money – FourChain and Ingram Micro together, can offer you substantial savings on establishing your own company's e-business presence. The following special Ingram Micro solution provider only pricing is available when you acquire FourChain under the Ingram Micro program:
 - FourChain Monthly Hosted Service (ASP) Save 25% off the current published monthly price.
 - FourChain Enterprise License (Self-Host) Save 8% off current list price. And save an additional $1,000.00 off installation or custom integration of $2,000.00 or more.

Leverage the Partnership

FourChain, via the Ingram Micro partnership, provides the same multisourcing flexibility solution providers have asked for, while adding new features specifically aimed at helping them get the most out of their Ingram Micro relationship. Contact your Ingeniasoft FourChain representative today to take advantage of this great opportunity.